*A total of 8 credits (the equivalent of two DrPH courses) is considered full-time by DrPH faculty. The course sequence indicated in this table shows the fastest possible time to complete all 54 credits required of the DrPH Program – 3 years. Much more typically, students take 4 or sometimes 5 years to complete all program requirements do to budgetary or time constraints, as well as the time to complete the dissertation, including data gathering and IRB approval.

**With permission of DrPH faculty, HPMM 9090 & 9091 (Internship 1 and 2) may be taken in the summer.

***HPMM 9095 Dissertation Research is worth a total of 9 credits. This may be taken across three semesters (3+3+3 credits), or across two semesters (6+3 or 3+6 credits, at the discretion of the student). With permission of DrPH faculty, HPMM 9095 may be taken in the summer.
